Seminar on CCS in the Nordic countries – a side-event to the Nordic Council's 65th session

Aim and Purpose

The international Energy Agency (IEA) estimates that 20 % of emission reductions towards 2050 must be realized through CCS (carbon capture and storage). In 2013 we are behind this plan. The realization of CCS is to a large extent a question of political priorities.

The seminar seeks to identify possibilities for CCS in the Nordic countries and to contribute to a fact-based debate between central interest groups.

Established under the Nordic Top-Level Research initiative and operationalized through Nordic Innovation, the NORDIC CCS Centre, is an initiative that is working, and can be a model for cooperation on CCS between the Nordic countries.

Selected results from the Centre's activities will be presented to the politicians.
